

ACEC

AMERICAN COUNCIL OF ENGINEERING COMPANIES

100 Years of Excellence

Introducing America's Leading Magazine on the Business of Engineering

We are sending you these complimentary issues of Engineering Inc.—the award-winning magazine dedicated to the business of engineering—in hopes that you will find it of interest and take advantage of valuable subscription, advertising and editorial contribution opportunities.

Published bi-monthly by the American Council of Engineering Companies (ACEC), Engineering Inc. delivers industry news, business trends and marketplace analysis, along with important decision-maker interviews.

ACEC is the voice of the U.S. engineering industry representing more than 5,000 companies and more than 500,000 engineering professionals responsible for the development of transportation, water and energy infrastructure, as well as environmental, industrial and other public and private facilities. Engineering Inc. is read by members of Congress, administrators of federal government agencies, along with governors and state utility, energy and infrastructure officials throughout the U.S.

Although this is an American magazine, the content of Engineering Inc. is valuable to the entire international engineering community.

To receive a free subscription to the electronic version of Engineering Inc., or obtain a paid subscription to the printed version, please email Andrea Keeney, akeeney@acec.org or call 1-202-347-7474.

To advertise in *Engineering Inc. please email Leo Hoch, lhoch@acec.org or call 1-202-347-7474.

For more information about ACEC, visit our website at www.acec.org